On Final Details of Production

"The Queen's Husband", the first three-act production of the season, will be presented tomorrow and Friday evenings at the Playhouse. Curtain will be at 8:15.

One of the best of Sherwood's plays, this has had great success in both professional and amateur productions. The play is a clever satire fused with amusing dialogue.

Mary J. Heckman '38, as Princess Anne of "Merland", loves her father's secretary, Granton, played by Warren Rohrer '39. Once upon a time royal romances were more for the convenience of the state than for the young couples involved in them. Now, when the diplomatic need for "marriages of state" has vanished, the custom lingers on.

Upholding the tradition, is Jennie-Belle Perry '38, acting as the mother, Queen Martha. She is very insistent that the princess marry a prince she scarcely knows, but her father, King Eric VIII, played by James A. Miner '38, helps her elope with Granton, and then is left to face the music -- and his wife!

Production committees have been hard at work under the direction of Prof. V. Spencer Goodreds.

Debating Team Wins Over McGill

Agnew '41 and Leggett '40
Take Decision Thursday
On Anglo-American Issue

A Middlebury forensic duo composed of John C. Agnew '41 and Glen H. Leggett '40 won a decision over McGill university in a debate in Mead chapel last Thursday. The question was resolved: that an Anglo-American mutual assistance pact in case of aggression would be in the best interests of world peace.

The negative, composed of John W. McNaughton and Edward H. Piper, based their argument on the "no foreign entanglements" policy, quoting Washington and Jefferson. A feature of the negative case was the almost complete absence of refutation of the affirmative, both speeches being given mainly to constructive argument.

Middlebury, on the other hand, held that, since American and Great Britain control most of the commerce and raw materials necessary for successful warfare, they could prevent war by jointly withholding these commodities, together with loans and credit.

The decision, two to one in favor of Middlebury, was rendered by Mr. Truman Butterfield, Dr. L. S. Walker and Mr. Donald Eldred.

The Oregon type of debate was tested in a non-decision encounter with Amherst Monday evening at Amherst, Mass., on the question resolved: that the United States should pursue a policy of economic nationalism. Agnew and Leggett again made up the team. Under this system, Agnew gave the main case and was cross-examined, then Leggett examined the opposition and summarized the arguments. There was no decision, but criticism was given by a professional critic after the debate.

Prof. Perley C. Perkins has been the debating coach for the past several years.

Winning Contest Entries In December Saxonian

Winning contributions in the photography and short-short story contests will be featured in the next issue of the "Saxonian", which will be out shortly before the start of Christmas vacation.

In addition, two honorable mention awards will be made in each contest, and the contributions will be printed if space permits. A large number of entries have been received in the story contest, and the photography entries have been both numerous and varied. The official presentation of the awards will be made in chapel, following the decision of the judges.

WESTMINSTER CHORAL GROUP TO GIVE PROGRAM HERE TUESDAY EVENING

Directed by Dr. John Finley Williamson, the Westminster chorus of thirty-two voices will present a program of choral music in Mead chapel Tuesday, November 30, at 8:15.

This group is well-known the world over as it has made two European tours, on one of which it made forty-two appearances in forty-nine days in eleven different countries. Extensive yearly tours are made throughout the United States and Canada.

Back of the success of the Westminster chorus stands the work of two people. Dr. Williamson, its director, organized the group in 1920. Several years later Mrs. H. E. Talbot, having always been interested in choral singing, became sponsor for the Westminsters. Its first long tours were arranged under her directorship.

Dr. Williamson not only directs the chorus, but he also is an instructor at the summer session of the Westminster choir school, which is held on the campus of Mt. Hermon school. There organists, music teachers, singers and directors study the technique of group singing.

"The Collegiate Review", New Publication, Being Sold Now at Middlebury

A new and different publication is being sold on campus this week. "The Collegiate Review", the long-awaited intercollegiate magazine, arrived last Saturday and was put on sale immediately.

The most striking feature of the magazine is its cover. Approximately the size of the "Atlantic Monthly", it combines the colors of orange, brown and light blue to create a pleasing autumnal effect.

Literary efforts, similar to those in our own "Saxonian" make up about one-fourth of the contents. Most of them are well-written and are typical of New England college students. They attempt, as the editor, Robert I. Brigham, says, to be "completely representative of student life and student thought."

The features include the results of a poll which was conducted by the "Collegiate Review" in more than forty colleges. They indicate the New England student's choice of dance orchestra, instrumentalist, male and female vocalist, dance number, radio comedian, sports announcer, radio program, magazine, best seller, moving picture, actor, and a host of other "bests". Also included, under the heading of "Faculty Faults" is part of an article by Middlebury's Edward E. Palmer '39, reprinted from the "Saxonian".

Changes In Athletic Awards Rejected

Students Vote to Retain Old
System; Standardization
Of Sweaters Repudiated

Showing a marked opposition toward revision of the present athletic award system, members of the undergraduate body voted on four questions submitted to them after Thursday and Friday chapel.

Two questions were placed before the undergraduate members following Thursday chapel. The first question was, "Do you favor the awarding of only one sweater to a man during his college course, with the exception of a captain's sweater, regardless of how many sports he may be a letter winner in?" A majority negative vote was registered, thus providing for no change along these lines in the present system.

As no provision is made in either the undergraduate association or the athletic council, constitutions as to how many sweaters an athlete may be awarded, legally, no action need have been taken on the above question. Student opinion which favored no change, however, will be weighed when final decision is made by the council.

The second question, "Do you favor the awarding of a sweater to the manager of freshman football?" met with almost unanimous approval of the undergraduate members. It was necessary for its approval, that this question have an affirmative vote of at least one-half of the men's college for its addition to the constitution.

Following Friday chapel, the other two questions were submitted to a vote of the undergraduate association. The first of these two questions was, "Do you favor an amendment standardizing athletic awards?" By a large majority, this question met with the disapproval of the undergraduate members stressing further their desire for the present

Soph Hop Will Be Held This Evening

Billy Burke's Eleven-Piece Orchestra to Play for Annual Formal at Inn

With Billy Burke and his orchestra playing songs voted by the students as their "hit parade", tomorrow night from 9:00 to 2:00, the Middlebury inn will be the scene of the season's first formal, the annual Soph Hop.

The decoration committee, headed by James R. Akers and C. Jane Appleton, have completed arrangements for the decorations which will emphasize a star motif.

It has been announced by the publicity and tickets committee, which is headed by Ralph O. Kaufman, Betty Forman and Jean M. Sweeney, that the advance sale of tickets far exceeds that of previous sophomore dance, over sixty tickets having been purchased.

Edward J. Reichert and A. Irene McGaughy, who are in charge of programs, have completed their arrangements.

Billy Burke and his orchestra, who were chosen for the occasion by Russell N. DeMeritt and Edith C. Finlay, heads of the orchestra committee, includes eleven pieces and will be accompanied by a woman vocalist. The band has played recently at the Harvard-Yale ball.

A feature of the evening is to be a contest of choosing songs in order of their campus popularity.

The committee on refreshments and chaperons, headed by Porter H. Evans and Priscilla Belcher, have announced that the chaperons are to be President and Mrs. Paul D. Moody, Dean Burt A. Hazeltine, Miss Rose E. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Bogart, and Prof. and Mrs. Perley C. Voter.

A CAMPUS COFFEE SHOP

A growing need has been felt for some time of a college-organized and college-supervised coffee shop centrally located on campus. Several meager attempts to foster such a project have been attempted in the past, but, to date, little has been accomplished. It seems needless to say that such a project would have the unanimous approval of the entire student body and, though few may realize it, the faculty.

Active organizations at present amply supply the student body with confections and soft drinks. It is more than confections and soft drinks. It is more than confections and soft drinks, however, that the average student desires. An occasional cup of coffee, a late breakfast, a mid-afternoon snack—these are the things that the student desires and that a campus coffee shop could easily provide.

As has been mentioned, it is not only the undergraduate that would appreciate the functions of such a project. Many a member of the faculty, busy with classes throughout the morning, would welcome a "between-classes" snack of some sort.

A project of this type should be a college-supervised organization to provide systemized organization and lessen the possibilities of subsistence on a profit basis. Such an organization as the Undergraduate association could sponsor and supervise the project. With this body behind the project, a necessary initial capital could be more easily raised. The organization would approach a co-operative standing with college backing such as the College Bookstore now receives. A further cooperative standing would be achieved by placing the buying of foodstuffs and the arranging of menus under the supervision of a college dietician.

One of the most important factors of such a project would be the student financial aid that could be realized from its functions. The popularity of a campus coffee shop would provide employment for several students in the capacity of managers, waiters, and kitchen help. It is an established fact that many Middlebury students must rely on financial reimbursement for their college education. While supplying an organization to fill the undergraduates desires, is it not plausible that we provide employment for the student at the same time? This factor could be accomplished by such a college-student cooperative organization.

To place a campus coffee shop off campus would defeat the entire purpose of the organization. A central location is essential for the success of such an enterprise. The first floor of Old Chapel would be the ideal location for a coffee shop. It is a fact that Old Chapel is now the nucleus of daily campus life. Easily accessible from all points, this would be the most desirable spot. Some of the space now utilized could be easily renovated into a comfortable coffee shop.

Any profit realized from the project's operation, although not established on a profit basis, could be utilized by the college on the many organizations now established. However, the fact that such a coffee shop should not be run for profit must be fully realized.

The second question submitted Friday was, "Do you favor changing Article 5 Section 8 from 'The first cheer leader shall be awarded a white sweater, with a blue "M", the side view of a megaphone running through it' to 'The first cheer leader shall be awarded a white sweater with a 5" by 4" blue "M"?'. This question resulted in a large-majority disapproval by those voting, leaving the award to the first cheer leader in its present form.

COLLEGE TO HEAR FAMOUS CHORUS

The chorus achieved outstanding success on its recent European tour during a visit to Russia. Every performance there was attended by not less than 4000, four concerts being given in Leningrad and seven in Moscow. It was on this trip also that the chorus sang before the king and queen of Norway. Upon its return to America the chorus was well received by the audience at a Welcome Home concert in Carnegie hall. The acappella singing of the ensemble was especially popular.
A few weeks later the chorus presented the Bach Mass in Carnegie hall in conjunction with the Philadelphia orchestra under the direction of Leopold Stokowski. Here again the opinion was confirmed that the Westminster chorus is one of the outstanding exponents of group singing in the world. Arrangements for its Middlebury appearance have been made through Professor Lewis J. Hathaway, head of the music department.
This choral presentation is part of the regular entertainment series; no admission fee to students.

1937-38 Basketball Schedule Released

McGill University Opposes Panther Quintet in First Contest Before Holidays

Fourteen games are listed for the Middlebury quintet during the coming campaign with all but three of them scheduled to be played away.

The opener on December 11 will be played in McCullough gymnasium against McGill university. Then the team will take to the road just before the Christmas holiday for games against Williams and Massachusetts State.

After the vacation six successive games with Tufts, New Hampshire, Vermont, Colgate, Hartwick, and Norwich are to be played away. St. Michael's comes here on February 11 and Vermont on February 22, but the rest of the games with Union, St. Michael's again and Norwich will be played on the opponent's floor.

Middlebury faces the season with very doubtful prospects. Last year the team had little success and most of the veterans from that aggregation have been lost by graduation. Anderson, the center, will be in action again this year, and, if he duplicates his performance in the final Vermont game last year, should be a potent offensive threat.

Co-captain Milt Lins is not expected to play again this year, as his injured knee is still in doubtful shape and his loss at one of the guard positions will be keenly felt. Johnny Chalmers, forward and the other co-captain, will be ready to play, however, and offense will be built around him and Anderson.

Other members of last year's squad who will probably be used are Paul Ranslow, Schragle and Eriksson. Johnny Kirk may be out if his knee is in good enough shape. In addition Conley and Mahoney, who did not report last year are expected to be fight-close to the basket.

Two practices have been held and Coach Beck has stressed fundamentals in these early sessions. Saturday, in the absence of Coach Beck, co-captain Lins directed the group in a hard workout, concentrating on offense and defense close to the basket.

Freshmen are eligible after the end of the first semester and a large number of good prospects are expected from the first year men.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Handball

Several matches have already been played in the individual handball tournament which started last week. In four matches played, Buskey, Butterfield, Streim, and Luria took places in the next round.

Basketball

Games in the intramural basketball tournament begin Tuesday, November 30. For competitive purposes, the teams are under two league titles, the American and the National Leagues. Under the former come CP, KDR, Neutrals, and SPE. The National league consists of ASP, BK, DKE and DU teams.

Twelve Games On Hockey Schedule

Five New England League Contests Slated in First Season of Membership

Entering its first active season as member of the New England hockey league, the Middlebury sextet faces one of its hardest schedules of recent years.

A well-balanced schedule of twelve games, two of which, R. P. I. and Springfield are pending, includes five league games: Northeastern, Boston college, New Hampshire, Boston university and M. I. T. The hardest game of the season according to Coach Nash, will be the Boston university game. Boston university was runner-up in the league last year, losing only in her final clash with Boston college. Her entire team is back again, while Boston college lost most of her men through graduation.

The Nashmen, much weakened by the loss of four of her strongest men, Manchester, Phinney and Robinson, who graduated last year, and Captain-elect Cullins, who did not return to college, face the season with her main hopes lying in the returning letter men. Westin and Cairns on the defense, and Farrell, Swett and Wyman in the forward line.

DeMerritt is the outstanding prospect for goalie, while Jarrell, Elliot, Lovell and Kinsey, members of last year's squad, will be fighting it out for berths on the team. Freshmen will be eligible to play in the Boston college game, and other games after that. Also, new men from the upper classes are urged to report for practice.

ON THE BALL

—By Soule

"To preserve the pride, morals, and loyalty of the Norwich Cadet corps" an editorial in "The Guidon", Norwich weekly newspaper advocates the awarding of football scholarships at the military institution, the neighborly rival of Middlebury in all sports but track and hockey. Whimpering under the effects of a disastrous football season, the Norwich paper came forth with this cry last week. And Saturday the Horsemen were subjected to one of the worst lacerations in the history of the school when a Panther opponent, Connecticut State, crashed down upon Bucky Hatfield and his crippled corps of Cadets to the tune of 76-0. It is certain that, if there was sentiment in favor of football scholarships before the contest with the Nutmeg school, it must be stronger now.

The probability of such a move on the part of one of the State colleges has been the forecast for some time. Too many crushing defeats at the hands of schools of the same size by at least Vermont and Norwich has bitten a deep gouge in both of their prides. U. V. M. made a move in this direction last year when an undergraduate organization assisted some ten or fifteen members of the class of 1941 in securing a college education. They had to be athletes to be in on the payroll.

Middlebury has always offered numerous scholarships to incoming freshmen but the men had to be students as well as athletes. To be sure the added prestige of being an athlete always aided the freshman in securing the scholarship and he usually received the preference but justly so. In this way Middlebury has an ideal method of awarding the prize package. It has resulted in a versatility for which we can be justly proud.

But now comes the boomerang. Is the

Kirk To Lead Eleven

Junior End Selected After Two Years of Service

John M. Kirk '39 was chosen captain of the 1938 football team after a meeting of the lettermen in chapel last week and a meeting of the athletic council yesterday afternoon.

Kirk's selection as leader of next year's grid squad marks the completion of two years of active service on the Middlebury eleven. In his freshman year he was the outstanding linesman at an end position. He was immediately drafted into service on the varsity in his sophomore year and was the highest scoring end among Eastern colleges. He received All-American mention and several other grid honors from national correspondents.

Kirk again broke into the limelight during the season just completed when he was the receiver of numerous passes from the throwing arms of Boehm and Mahoney. He tallied twice in the Norwich game and once in the Colby game and was a consistent threat to the opposition all season. He is not only proficient in football but has also won letters in basketball and baseball to become one of the few men who have won three letters in their sophomore year. Twenty-four lettermen participated in the election of Kirk as captain.

"— and please notice this"

Notice the pure white cigarette paper... notice how every Chesterfield is like every other Chesterfield—the same size and every one round, firm and well-filled.

Notice when you smoke one how Chesterfields are milder and how different they taste. That's due to the careful way Chesterfield tobaccos are aged and blended.

*Mild ripe tobaccos
and pure cigarette paper
.. that's why they're Milder
why they TASTE BETTER*

Chesterfield
*.. they'll give you
MORE PLEASURE*
